Washington-His New Character. Henry A. Wise, the Governor of Virginia, on the occasion of the inauguration of the Washington Statute, at the Virginia Military Academy at Lexington, delivered one of those remarkable orations which only Wise conceive could and deliver. It is full of striking and original ideas, and presents a view of Washington's character and life quite different from that of many other she fixed her permanent residence.' eulogists, and, as we think, more just and faith-

It is a common error of writers and editors, matic old bachelor, with no one to love, or rather in describing the character of Washington, to It is a common error of writers and editors, represent him as free from the ordinary passions of humanity—to enthrone him as a sort of di-nor does our informant whether she was very vinity, who never yielded to human weakvinity, who never yielded to human weak-beautiful or not. Suffice it to say, she yielded to the suit of the veteran soldier, and became Mrs. lime being which, at times, he often was. Governor Wise's view of his character is far more rational and just, and at the same time calculations and just, and at the same time calculations. ernor Wise's view of his character is far more rational and just, and at the same time calculated to strengthen the love and devotion of the make room for the fine dwellings of Mr. John his day and time of action and trial he bad bitter enemies, who maligued and enviously criticized both his conduct and his motives. There is a great lessou in this remembrance to all who would prepare themselves to serve mankind. They must expect persecution and ingratitude, and must not be deterred by malice and uncharitableness. No man was ever more traduced, at home and abroad, than George Washington. The minions of despots derided him, as with the satire of Tom Moore. Traitors and to-ries, renegades and refugees at home aspersed contempt for his pretensions to ability, and with slanderous imputations of a design to become usurper and autocrat. Jealousies beset him on every hand, in the army, and afterward in the civil administration lie was too good and great not to be the object of envy, hatred and malice, and he was not so god-like either as to be unaffected by the shafts aimed at his reputation and sensibilities. He was but a mere man, of like passions with ourselves. His excitability was immense and his anger was awful. When aroused by passion, he stormed like thander amid the Alps. Panegyric, as wellas detrac-tion, has borne false witness about his character. He is usually pictured as so completely under the restraint of self-command range as to be like a cold snow-capped mounted among his peers-isolated who glowed with the fervent, and was guarded by the thunders and lightnings of the Deity. [Loud cheers.] If not like Moses, alone allowed o take the tables of the law from the very God, he was allowed to take the law from the very table; and his wrath was almost divine when oused mostly against errors which deluded the people he governed. Though grand in his pas-sions, even he, too, was sometimes weak in their indulgence. There are memorable instances of his tremendous outbreaks of temper. He stormed anathemas louder than the battle at General Charles Lee, on the field of Monmouth. History admits mildly that he rode up and said, "In the name of God, General Lee, what has caused this distinct prudence?" Lee insulted him with the "I know no man blessed with a larger portion of that rascally virtue than your Excellency. He rode furiously that day over his equaman who was the only officer under his command unfortunate enough to offer insolence. He withwed from that time forth as a limb blasted. Firtue bath that power silently to scathe with its moral might, without arms, and to strike down its enemy at once. When the news of St. Clair's defeat reached him, while he was President he raged for many minutes without restraint, and called aloud upon Heaven's wrath against the neglect of a command which was caught in an Indian ambuscade. After he was President, he had a mortifying scene with the then Mr. John Marshall, at Mount Vernon, with whom he was trying to prevail to run for a seat in Congress.— He healed the wound so handsomely as to prevail in his request, and the speech on Jay's treaty and the eminence of Chief Justice afterward were

Colonel Fremont. There is a discrepancy in the biographies of Fremont, which have been published, as to his birth-place. Some of the accounts state that he was born in Virginia, others in South Carolina, and others again in Georgia. The following, from the Boston Telegraph, is said to be correct :

"John Charles Fremont was born at Savan-nah, Georgia, January 21, 1813. His parents were residents of Nortolk, Va., but at the time of his birth, they were on a journey through the Southern States. His father was boru in France, near Lyons. Having been taken prisoner by the English, while on the way to join his relatives in St. Domingo, he afterwards escaped and came to the United States. " Being a young man of fine taste and considable skill in painting, he soon made friends and found employment. At Norfolk, Va., he found the lady who became his wife, and who is described as a young Virginia lady of remarkable beauty. And it is added that they were married coutrary to the wishes of her family. Charles Fremont was their oldest child. were two other children—a daughter, who died at the age of seventeen, and a son, the youngest child, who died at the age of twenty.

"Col. Fremont's father died when these children were all very young, the oldest not being but four years of age, leaving his bereaved family in very dependent and destitute circumstances. The widow removed with her children and pov. erty from Norfolk to Charleston, S. C., where

The veteran Col. Pryor took it into his head that he needed a wife, and that he would be much better with one than to remain a rheu-So he sought the hand in marriage of a young people, than the fanciful portrait which is generally presented of the illustricus man.

But with all this perfection and performance about him, so worthy of the highest admiration and gratitude, let us not fail to remember that in stood two offices, apparently to promote the harmony of the general design. We are the more particular in describing the building, because, as will be seen, a lodgment was made in one of these offices by an enemy of the Colonel's domestic happiness.

We have no dispositiou in the general to meddle with the private history of people; but when that private history relates to men presented for the highest office in the gift of the nation, and is brought to light by the press, it is nothing more than proper that it should be, in the main, correct. It is due to truth and history. It would be indeed strange, if so young a man as Colonel Fremont were elected President, that the simple record of his purentage and birth had either been lost entirely to history, or so inaccurately recorded as to present hardly a single fact correctly.

To the good or bad fortnee, as it may be, of this city, it is connected with the history of Col. Fremont's parentage. About the first of the present century, there resided in this city a revclutionary veteran, who had served faithfully in the war of the Revolution. This veteran was Col. John Pryor. He lived on the ground which lies between the canal and the river, west of the Petersburg railroad depot, and east of the Armory. He had there surrounding his house a garden, where people were admitted for a small fee, and where refreshments could be procured. This grand, alone, chilly in the upper regions of his exaltation above the ordinary herd of men. No such idea is true of him. He was no northern the coldness. He was the ond took a long time to go a ver way-indeed, he was a disabled, stiff limbed old soldier, and his physical forces had, from expo-sure and hardship, suffered no little abatement. At this time there lived in Richmond a French eacher named Fremont, who taught in the academy of the celebrated French scholar and gentleman, Giradin. M. Fremont is described as having been a small swarthy individual, with some French peculiarities, strongly developed. Some of the oldest inhabitants say that Colonel Pryor.

employed Monsieur Fremont to teach his youn wife French. Certain it is, that he rented of the Colonel one of the little offices above and took his meals, as a boarder, at the Colonel's table. What progress the lady made in studying French is not known; but, during the interviews with her teacher, there grew up in her breast sentiments and feelings inconsistent with her relations to Col. Pryor. How long this state of things existed we are not informed; but the result was, that M.s. Pryor and M. Fremont fled from the city to Norfolk, and there for, for a time lived together—he, it is understood, pursuing the vocation of upholsterer, which was supposed to have been his original trade. They did not, however, reside long in Norfolk, but went to the Sonth—where the candidate for the Presidency was born-possibly to Savannah, though some We cannot say whether the parties were ever married. Certain it is that old Col. Pryor was never divorced from his wife, who thus left him more forlorn than he was when she married him. The question arises, could there have been a le gitimate marriage without a divorce?

It is proper to add that Col. Pryor, after some brooding over the bad treatment he suffered in the desertion of his wife, assuaged his grief by marrying another young womau, who remained with him until his death—he dying, it is hardly necessary to add, without issue. The abduction of his first wife by the Frenchman, who showed not the slightest regard for his prior claims, was a sore subject to the old Colonel. These jucidents in the life of the progenitor of the Freesoil candidate for the Presidency, show that he was at least a disciple of Free Love, if not of Free Soil.—Richmond Dispatch, (K. N.)

Tenth District-HIRAM KELSEY,

The facility with which Northern Enow Nothings transfer their allegiance from Fillmore to Fremont. Recent events in Massachusetts exhibit the unscrupnlous and unprincipled character of Know Nothingism in a glaring light. The Boston Bee has been the leading Know Nothing organ of the State. It was the especial mouth piece of Gov-Gardner and others whom the Know Nothing press of this State have been pleased to style the conservative and Union-loving Americans of Massachusetts." It has, ever since the nomination in February, had the name of Fillmore at the head of its column as its Presidential standard bearer, under strong hopes, as it now declares, that "he would have been an acceptable candidute upon whom all the elements of opposition to the slavery-extending sectional and mis-called Democratic party might have been concentrated.

This is the same Fillmore whom Sonthern Know Nothing presses sustain as the very man for the South

But Fremont was nominated, and the Know Nothing State Convention of Massachusetts conscious of the weakness of Fillmore, dropped his name and adopted that of Fremont. Instantly, the Bee, "in obedience to the will of the American party of the State," hauls down the name of Fillmore and hoists that of Fremont, upon the ground that "desiring that what influence we possess should be directed in doing the most effectual service toward staying the present evils and defeating an endorsement of the present rascally administration, we yield our personal preferences as regards candidates and take a stand for Liberty now and forever."

It is here acknowledged that Filmore is sufficiently anti-slavery in reality, but has not the strength to defeat the "rascally" Democracy, aud, therefore, in defiance of "person preferences," must be thrust aside for a stronger man.

That same Bee, while thus pledged to the black republican candidate, still continues to fly the banner of "Americans shall rule America," in ly grateful to its Fillmore allies in the South:

As Americans, we will do whatever is in our nominees, believing them to be the bitterest ene-mies that the American party has to contend with. As Americans, we will use every fair and onorable means to secure the freedom of Kansas, the freedom of speech, the freedom of the paliot-box, and the Press. In doing this, we shall not give up the faintest shadow of our American principles. We stand to-day, as we stood last autumn, upon the Springfield platform. From that position we cannot be moved.

There is a great battle to be fought—a great question to be settled; it is whether the people of this country shall be tree or enslaved. Let us all do what we can to determine that issue for the right, and Americanism will shine forth with ten fold more lustre, weaving around the temple of American liberty a wreath of never-fading glory When that is accomplished, it can indeed be said that Americans have ruled American!

Again, in a still later number, it thus notices the declination of Mr. Raynor to run as the Vice Presidential candidate of one of the bolting Con-

DEGLIKATION OF MR. RAYNOR .- Hon. Kenneth Raynor, of North Carolina, has declined the nom-ination of Vice President, made by a faction in New York. We supposed he would. Mr. Raynor is a man of sense, and desires no doubt to act He therefore declines to be instrumental in distracting the American forces. We trust his example will be followed by his leading associate on the same ticket. It is a time for union of parties for a common cause, when that cause is the country's. We have no doubt out that Mr. Raynor will in good time be found in the Fremont and Johnston column. His love of pat-motism and the gennine interests of the country will suggest the path of duty. He desires as much as any man in the country to defeat the administration; and he also knows as well how, and how only, that can be done.

We call upon Sonthern Know Nothings to read these articles from a journal, which, less than two weeks ago, was supporting Mr. Fillmore as ardently as they themselves are. It such "reliable" organs as the Ree, and such "conservative" politicians as Gov. Gardiner so easily desert Mr. billmore, what reliance can be placed upon the other so-called supporters of Mr. Fillmore in the free States? Will they not, too, sell out to the Black Republicans when the time comes?

It is the duty of every man in the South to ex. sunine the condition of parties at the North. We do not believe that any intelligent man can make such investigation without coming to the conclusion that outside of the Lomocratic party there is no conservatism in the free States, and that its triumph is necessary to the protection of the constitution and the perpetuity of the Union.

The Cotton Crop.

The cotton crop is far from satisfactory in its prospects. Until lately the promise was generally very good, except a few localities. We now, however, observe notices in our Sonthern exchanges, of extensive destruction from various causes. In Hind county, Mississippi, it is stated that a promising field of two hundred and fifty acres was destroyed by the worms in a few days. A gentleman from Phillips county, Arkansas, has shown us letters from his overseer from which we make the following extract: June 19th.-My last informed you that the lice were very bad but they left in a few days after I wrote. Cotton has taken a start and grows as fine as I ever saw. I never knew a finer prospect for a crop. A few worms have made their appearance." The next letter, dated July 4th, says:

"The worms are very bad. I don't think we will make half a crop. I would be glad if you would come down, if for no other purpose, to see how the worms are destroying the cotton. They commence on the top of the stalk, cut it off some four inches from the top. then cut the light of four inches from the top, then cut the limbs off and leave the stalk perfectly naked; the stalk then dies. It is distressing to see, but cannot be helped."

and ends of factions in Pennsylvania, says the opposition to the Democratic party. One of the admitting the numanufactured article free, candidates on the fusion ticket for State officers is a Know-Nothing, another a Black Republican,

The Planters' and Union Banks of Ten-

The Louisville Journal makes a great lonrish over the Kansas bill which has passed ng to the Abolition vote. Like all the charges est of the South of the Louisville Journal, it has about as much ticle in which the Democratic party is concerned. | uted as follows: The bill in question looks only to the peaceable settlement of Kansas, and has no reference to the Abolitionizing or Southernizing the Territory .-Its main feature is the qualification of voters and the protection of the citizens in the legal exercise of their rights. It looks equally to the rights of all parties in the Territory, and makes no distinctions of party. To let our readers know how far it is intended to favor Free-Soilism, it is necessary to State that the hill was presented by Toombs, of Georgia, whose position is too well fixed, and who has been too often abused by the Journal to leave his sentiments on the slavery question equivocal. Fremont cannot carry any Southern State, and t received the support of the South to a unit, if ot absolutely unanimous—for as yet we have will go for Buchanan. Nevertheless if the fusionists should carry for Fremont all the free States only the telegraphic reports, and it has met with the most violent denunciations from Wilson, Wade, and Hale-snfficient to redeem it from such charges as those of the Journal. The telegraphic reports of the debates upon the bill on the 10th inst., are a sufficient refutation of all the false charges of the Journal.

Irish Americans. Now when serious danger threatens the South, and every possible vote is needed in her behalf, the Fillmore party are attempting to draw from her support some of her best and warmest friends. Read what a leading abolition journal says of these same Irish Americans whom we have heard so freely denounced for the past two years, as unfit for cltizens, and dangerous to the Repub-

"What shall we say to the Freemen's Journal, Archbishop Hnghes' organ, which in the face of these facts, and against every aspiration of bnman nature in general, and from Irish blood in particular, argues for the slaveocracy puppet, Bucha nan, and that most infamous doctrine of modern times, the Cincinnati platform And is or the enslavement of the northerner laborerof themselves-though their great apostle. Daniel O'Connel, was so terrible an anti-slavery man that before being introduced to any American who sought his acquaintance, he inquired if he was a man-stealer and a murderer, or a republi-can, though, too, the son of their great martyr, Emmet, is one of the most eminent members o the Republican party!'

And whom do the National Americans propose give us in the place of these our allies, ot whom they are attempting to deprive as? Fulers, Havens, and Philadelphia Convention men. To say nothing of the ingratitude of the thing, the South is not so mad as to make the exchange.

The Emperor and the Heir Imperial. The Paris correspondent of the London Court Journal states that the private ball recently given at St. Cloud, in France, in honor of Prince Oscar, of Sweden, was the most brilliant in point of toilet and aristocracy of company which has been given since the accession to the throne of the Emperor Napoleon III. The Empress though in a languid state of health, was present for a short time. She was attired in white, with an immenserich lace mantilla, seeming to envelope her from head to foot in its transparent folds, whence the diamonds peeped out on every side with dazzling brilliancy. Her head dress consisted of a broad bandeau of brilliants with two the following language, which must be peculiar- large cactus flowers drooping on either side of If, with Mr. Buchanan, this strategy can be hest her face, the petals of the flowers consisting of executed, then he it so. The Imperial Infant has received from the Bey of Tunis a present another cradle more elegant and more expensive than that in which His Royal Highness has hitherto designed to compose himself to rest. The cradle is of silver gilt .--Around the edge was a border of arabasques in precious stones of great price, and the value of star alone, with which the curtain is pinned, is computed to be $75,000. The net-work curtain, omposed of fine seed pearl, was made by the ladies of the Bey's harem, one of whom the Bey declares to be descended from the family of the Prophet, thus investing it with a sort of sanctity.

MR. FILLMORE AND THE NATURALIZATION OF FREE NEGROES-In January, 1842, Mr. Adams, presented a petition from a number of citizens of Massachusetts, stating that by law no foreigner of color can now become a citizen ef the United States, and hold real estate therein, and praying that the naturalization laws may be so amended as to permit free colored foreigners to become citizens of the Uniteed States, and to hold real

Mr. Wise raised the question of reception on the above petition, and moved to lay that question on the table. Mr. Calhoun asked the yeas and nays, which were ordered, and were as follows-yeas 115, nays 68. Adams, FILLMORE, Giddings & Co., in the negative.

So the question of reception (carrying the petition with it) was laid on the table.-Cong. Globe, vol. 11, page 158.

Mr. Fillmore's position on this question, may account for the silence of the American platform upon negro suffrage, as it exists in New York and elsewhere, while it apprehends great danger from white foreigners and catholics. The colored brethren no doubt vote right on the great questions of the day.

CENTRAL AMERICA .-- Advices from Costa Rica the 5th ult. are to the effect that a new expedition against Gen. Walker is in the course of organization, and an invasion of Nicaragua with nine thousand men is spoken of. It is stated that three other States will also participate in the movement. Ahout two hundred men have recently joined General Walker, who has again removed his headquarters to Granada. Brigadier Gen. Hornshy has been sent with a regiment to hnng 'by Walker's men at Virgin Bay. At Granada there was great excitement growing out of an anticipated war with Guatemala and San to Salvador. It is said that the people are very friendly to Walker, and that with his force of one thousand Americans and as many Nicaraguans, he will triumphant over all attacks.

A VOICE FROM WISCONSIN. - A correspondent of the Boston Post, writing from Wisconsin, says: "We are all alive fer Old Buck in these parts. There never was a time since the days of the hero Andrew Jackson in which the Democracy were so well united as at present. That he will be elected there is no donbt. You may put down Wisconsin as good for ten thousand majority for Buchanan and Breckinridge. Roll on the ball. Nine hundred cheers for Old Buck and the whole Union."

But this cannot be conceded, and consequently if the contest were only between Buchanan and Fremont, it would place the election of the former almost beyond question

Should Mr. Buchanan carry all the Southern States and Pennsylvania, he would have our hundred and forty-seven votes, two less than a majority. Indiana or Illinois, Iowa or California nia, Wisconsin or Michigan, or possibly New York-some one of which may pretty safely be counted on for him—would make up the defi-riency. But, then, Delaware, with three votes, s doubtful, Kentucky not entirely certain, no yet Louisiana, unless the Democrats of the last named State act with greater unanimity and vigor-especially in New Orleans-than they nave yet displayed in the present canvass. failure of either of these States to vote with the ther Southern States as a unit would seriously endanger the result, and might throw the election into the Honse, where there is little doubt the Black Republicans would trinmph as they did in the election of Speaker. It becomes then the bvious duty and policy of all who would defeat the Black League, which is headed by Fremont, to endeavor to concentrate the whole strength of the South upon the strongest constitutional ticket that is presented. That is unquestionably the Buchanan and Breckinridge ticket, upon the Douglas-Soule platform. Mr. Fillmore can only enter as an element to disturb the calculation on which this policy is based. He has not even an appreciable chance of election. It is a rank infatuation to suppose so. The delusion can do nothing but produce a marplot in the South, and vill not detract one whit from the Black Repub lican consolidation the the North. In the North the battle will be waged against the Senth, and the more distinct the issue, and concentrated the opposition in the South, the better. The ques tion is, who is the most conservative, national and available candidate for the South to unite upon? From all present indications and date, Mr. Buchanan, take him all in all, plaform included, is that man. If such is the case, then every vote cast agains him in the South is a vote indirectly in favor of the Black Republican ticket. But let the South go as a unit for Buchanan against the Black Fu--given that Pennsylvania and any one other free State go the same way-and the defeat of harled back from the Capitol which it threaten engulph, and for four years at least the Union may hold together without subjecting the Sonth to the alternative of abject submission to the rabid Kakistocracy of the North, or-

The time long ago predicted by Calhoun and other forecasting statesmen has come. Abolition ism, in all it forms, phases and degrees is consol idated to crush out the South, destroy her political prestige, and blot out her futury. The South must meet it or be prepared to fall; and to mee it successfully, should carry the war into Africa is no time now for Southern men to he hounded in their views by the narrow horizon of selfish nary responsibility that rests upon every Southern voter, and he will have a fearful account to answer to his conscience and his country who shall deliberately throw his vote away, from caprice or from lingering party prejudice, when the South expects every son of hers to do his duty, faithfully, wisely and effectually. Between the South and Black Republicanism there is now no middle ground.

NEW YORK .- Mayor Wood, of New York, in a patriotic letter, says-"The success of Buchanan and Breckinridge s superior to all other political considerations. We must carry this State for the glorious old statesman of Lancaster. Let no personal or merely local considerations interfere for a moment with the performance of this almost sacred duty. At the New Haven Ratification. ith, Gen. Wilson said in his speech that he received an average of five letters a day from the South, whose authors said there was a strong anti-slavery sentiment in the Southern States, out the despotism was so severe there that it alowed no expression of their views; but if the North would extinguish their doughfaced politi-cians, the would-be free South would join hands with us in arresting the further progress of slavery in the territories .- [Cin. Letter from Gov. Winston, of Ala. We find in the Mobile Tribnne the following letter from Governor Winston, of Alahama, ad. dressed to Governor Gardner, of Massachusetts:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Montgomery, Ala., June 19, 1856. }
Sir:—Believing the resolves you have forwarded to this Department, in relation to the Territory of Kansas, to be in conflict with truth of hisory, unconstitutional and treasonable in design, I return them to you, with a request that the future resolutions of the Legislature of Massachusetts on Federal affairs and the subject of slavery no more forwarded to this Department. The obligations of the Constitution, and the laws of the United States passed in conformity thereto, being disregarded and nnlified by Mass-achusetts, we desire no further intercourse with your State, and wish to be free, in future, from insult from a State whose citizens do not recognize accountability for insult and libelous imputations upon the character of Sonthern States and the citizens thereof.

Your obedient servant,
JOHN A. WINSTON.

PARDSTOWN, July, 12th. DEAR BUZZOCE .- ' ions parturient.' &c. Roger W. Hanson, the great American, spoke, as previously announced, on yesterday. There were about 500 of the sovereigns present, a little more than half of whom were Democrats. The great "Goliath" laboured through a speech of about two honrs and a-half, in which he made more reckless assertions than were ever uttered by the most nnscrupulous domagogue of his

He started out with the great bughear of the intense Americans—the foreign emigration—in which he gave Kossuth and the German Turners a taste of his powers of abuse-that was all very well, and they deserved everything he said of them, and more too.

He then tonched the Catholics very slightly indeed. I am told this part of his speech was very different from the one he made in Shep-

He then stated, among other things, that Bishop Hughes had sold the vote of New York

He spoke of the Homestead Bill as another trick of the Democratic party to curry favor with foreigners, and asserted that such a hill had actnally passed Congress and become a law. Take the whole speech throughout, it was dededly the weakest argument I ever heard from the party. He repeated Prentice's slander in reference to Buchanan—attempted a dissection of our platform, and failed most signally. He seemed rejoiced at the nomination of Fremont, and told Sam's boys that they had cause to rejoice at it, as by his nomination he would draw off all the Catholic and foreign vote, and thereby of "the greasy Tennesseean," but the words Previous to the opening of his speech, he said he would divide time with any one discussion; he, however, proposed that the one who would accept his challenge should speak first an hour, he then would follow an hour, his opponent another hour, and he to have the con-

Mr. Wilson, from Bullitt, told him he would accept the challenge, and that he (Mr. Hanson) speak first two hours, after which he would reply, occupying two honrs, and Mr. Hanson might close, which he declined to accept. After Hanson had concluded, there were loud eries for Wickliffe, Wilson, Johnson," &c. Hon. C. A. Wickliffe told the crowd that he was weak, unable to speak at that time, but he pledged himself to nail to the counter as false and untenable every assertion uttered by The K. N.'s, as soon as Hanson got through, dispersed and would not stay to hear Wilson, who replied to him in a powerful speech of some two hours, in which he showed the utter want of facts in the whole of Hanson's speech. Some of the strikers attempted to get up a diffi-culty by going to Mr. Hanson and stating that Mr. Wilson had denounced him in his absence. Hanson came to where Wilson was speaking followed by several of the "intense Americans" and asked Mr. Wilson to permit hlm to say a few words, which was readily granted. He said he had understood that after he left the stand and returned to the hotel he had heen denounced in no very respectable terms; that he wisbed it un-derstood that he never condescended to denunciation or personal remarks about any one, and would not allow it to be done to him, &c. Wilson here interrupted him, and told him he had only used, in speaking of him, the epithet applied to him by Tom Marshall and others—but one charge he did make on his own hook, and he had said that he believed he (Hanson) had got his speech from the Journal, and so help him God, he still believed it. At the same time meant no per-

I do not blame Hanson, for I have no donbt it had been told him that an insult had been offered when there was none. The blame is to he attached to the ones who made themselves the channel. Hanson and Wilson shook hands, the former remarking that he believed the latter a much finer fellow than he thought. Wilson told him to be seated and hear him through and no doubt he would be yet more fully convinced of his opinion. He excused himself on the ground tbat he expected to leave for Springfield immediately—which, however he did not do as he remained in town all night.

Mr. Hanson dld more good for the Democracy than he did harm. He made a very happy and beautiful allusion to onr candidate for the Vice Presidency—terming him the "gallant and blooded young Kentuckian," and in speaking of him, termed him "Vice President"—about the only fact he nttered. KENTUCK.

CONSTITUTIONAL MAJORITY .- In the case of the two improvement bills recently passed by Congress over the head of the President, a question was raised touching the constitutional majority necessary to pass a bill over the President's head. The question was, whether two-thirds of all the members elected, or two-thirds of those voting, were required in such a case. It was decided that two-thirds of the members present

WASHINGTON, July 12. SENATE. Senate passed thirteen bills: one posing to allow him to go before the Commi er for the renewal of bis patent, on the ground of a former application being refused through technicality, was defeated by 9 majority.

Theaggregate vote cast for their candidate throughout the Territory, as they appear on the poll book, was short of 8,00, while the census taken before shows that there were 2,000 legal voters, without allowance for immigration. The bona fide settlers, after the census was taken, and pefore the election in the States, gave no evidence that any force or violence was usd to prevent any from voting in the Territory. There is no evidence of a single assault about voting that day—no evidence of assailing in the slightest degree the correctness of Gov. Reeder's judgment in awarding certificates of election to members of the Legislature. That Legislature was a proper law-making body and therefore its laws valid as far as consistent with the Constitution of the U.S. and organic act, and Whitfield being duly elected in pursuance of a law thus passed, is entitled to his seat.

Mr. Oliver reviews at great length the existing tronbles in Kansas, says from the evidence they are properly chargeable to the revolutionary movements of those who got up the Topeka con-vention, and have pledged themselves to resist the laws at all hazards

The House resumed the consideration of the report of the Sumner assault.

Mr. Allison contended that this subject involved not only the rights of Mr. Snmnerr, but the people. This was not merely a private quarrel. The sanctity of the Senate chamber had been violated by a member of this Honse, which, however unpleasant, should punish the offender.

Mr. Bocock said there was no case on record showing the expulsion of a member for assault and battery. He argued that the case pending would not warrant the interposition of the House—no such disorderly behavior for which the Constitution provides punishment having ect committee in the report.

Mr. Wilson said this whole matter had been invested with importance quite unmerited; when the facts were developed it was found to be nothing but personal controversy.

The House lad only a limited power over the members and could not punish for disorderly behavior unless committed in open session and could not expel for an offence elsewhere. Mr. Eddie said the House owed it to themselvee for the protection of their rights. They owed it to the nation in defense of the great constituonal principle to pass a resolution for expulsion and as much as he regretted the necessity, he was constrained to vote for its passage. Mr. Giddings tendeaed to Mr. Brooks the whole ympathies of his heart, for he recollected that ifteen years ago he himself stood here accused, out on a different charge, without being permitted to open his lips or a friend to give a sentiment in his behalf. He said Mr. Brooks had satisfied the law relative to the assault on Mr. Sumuer, but t was unatoned for as a great crime committee against the Constitution, and as a blow made at the sovereign rights of the people. He endorsed every word of Mr. Sumner's speech.

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, said to-morrow he would endeavor to finish the debate by moving the previous question in order that a vote may taken Monday. Mr. Grow gave notice that he soon would call a motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill authorizing the Postmaster-General to enter into a contract with Christlan Hanson, of Brooklyn, to carry the U.S. Mail in a line of steemers from New York to Gladstadt via some port in Eng-

THE BROOKS AND SUMMER CASE. - This case came up for trial yest rday morning before Judge Crawford, of the criminal court. The District

Attornoy appeared for the United States, and Linton, Esq., of Washington, for the defence.— The evidence adduced did not differ materially from that given before the congressional committee. At the close of the testimony, Mr. Brooks addressed the conrt as follows:

May it please your honor: May I be permitted o say a word? [Judge Crawford. Certainly. appear in persou before this honorable conr simply to receive its judgment. I would have preferred that the person npon whom the assault was committed had been present to answer whether or not his speech which libelled my State and my blood, was printed before its de-livery in the Senate. I feel confident that, unath, he could not have denied this fact, which, with due deference to your honor, I regard as material to my defence, inasmuch as a ibel is contrary to law, and to that extent would operate in extenuation of my office.

I would like to have inquired of him, in per son, as to the degree of his personal injuries, and to have been informed in what way he could reconcile that part of his statement as to the words used by me when the assault was made with the sentence which immediately succeeds with the sentence which immediately successful this language in his testimony before the investigating committee, and which is as follows:

"I While these words were passing from his [my] lips, he commenced a succession of blows with a heavy cane on my bare head, by the first which I was stunned so as to lose sight.' It would have gratified me had he been com pelled to answer under oath as to the violence of the first blow, which I aver was but a tap and

But, sir, he is conveniently and deliberately absent and on travel, notwithstanding but six days ago this case was postponed on account of extreme indisposition and the materiality of his stimony; and yet, with all these disadvantages, prefer to receive the judgment of the court than continue in suspense.

It is not my purpose to addnce any evidence in I have already accomplished more than half of the journey of life, and this is the first time that it has been my misfortine to be arraigned before judicial tribunal as a breaker of any law of my country. I confess, sir, and without shame, that my sensibilities are disturbed by my novel position, and I have but to express my profound regret that, in discharging a duty posed upon me by my own sense of right and the sentiment of the gallant people it is my pride and honor to represent, I am contrained, as a consequence, to approach you as a violator, and not as a maker of the laws. In extenuation of my offence, permit me to say that no extraordinary power of Invention is requisite to imagine a variety of personal grievances which the good of society and even public morality require to be redressed; and yet no adequate legal remedy may be had. So, also, are there cases which may fall under the condemnation of the letter of the law, and yet like considerations will restrain its penalties. The villain who perverts the feelings of the better sex, and rewards unsuspecting devotion with ruin, may bid defiance to this honorable court. But, where a sister's dishonor is blotted out with the blood of her destroyer, an intelligent and wholeso public opinion, imbodied in an intelligent and virtuous jury, always has, and always will, control the law, and popular sentiment will appland what the books may condemn.

It is the glory of the law that it is founded in eason. But can that reasoning be just which is not regardful of human feeling? nows better than yourself that such a reproach does not rest upon our jurisprudence; for, even the stern letter of the law touches with tenderness the husband who slays in the act the usurper of his bed. The child who kills in defence of its parent is excused by the law, which is ever regardful of the various impulses of nature. By a parity of reasoning, patriotism is regard- Tuesday. ed by every nation upon earth as the cardinal political virtue. Laws are made to reward it, and to perpetuate the names of those who are its exemplars. And can it be expected—will it be reuired-that I, with a heart to feel and an arm to strike, shall patiently hear and ignobly sub-mit while my political mother is covered with insnlt, and obloquy, and dishonor? while her character is slandered and her reputation libelled?

Sir, the substance which I have been gathering for my children may be squandered, my body may be consigned to the common jail, my life it self may be forfeited, but I will be nativity, and to the mother that bore me The first political lesson which my ripenin faculties fully comprehended and appreciate was the high moral and social obligations of every citizen to bow himself to the majesty of the law. In obedience to the precepts of my youth which are sanctioned by the experience and judgment of mature years, I submit my case to the discretion of the court with entire confidence, that while you, sir, as a magistrate, perform you whole duty to your country and yourself, you will remember that in every regulated commun ty public opinion distinguishes between crime honorable resentment, and tolerates the refuge which men sometimes seek in the magnanimity of the judges. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Brooks' remarks, Judge Crawford proceeded to give the following

"As this matter will be within a short time the subject of investigation in another place, and as it is not necessary to the discharge of my du-ty that I should remark on the evidence addreed which I could not do without touching on some of the points that will probably be raised elsewhere, it appears to me to be proper that the sen-tence of the court should be pronounced without comment. That sentence is, that the defendant pay a fine of $300.
